

Night to remember

When you face another sleepless night
In the middle of another dreamless fight
That was lost just before it began
It's all written
The days of the young, of the wild and free
They don't mean nothing if it don't happen to be
And I'm still holding on 'cause I know where I belong
And there is someone like me

Oh goddess can you sing the anger to me once more
Like you did a thousand times before
How many days do I have to be strong again?
'Til I (Re-)Ignite the fire deep within/'Til I find the truth that's buried deep within

Make it just a night to remember
Take away the blue sky from my heart
Though I always tried to defend what we had
I lost it from the start
Make it just a night to remember
The nights have always been the hardest part
Give me one more night and I surrender to you
To heal this wounded heart/Or will you tear me apart?

On the corner of a shipwrecked fantasy
Of easy come and go like it's meant to be
I thought you'd pull me through
I should have known better
When you lose your soul though you know you are free
'Cause nothing good comes easy and it don't happen to be
But I'm still holding on though I know I might be wrong
That there is someone like me
